NATIONAL EDUCATION POLICY-2020 RE-IMAGINING INDIAN EDUCATION

B S Purkayastha

"The National Education Policy is a means to fight poverty and to meet the needs of the 21st century," Prime Minister Narendra Modi said in a recent address. Coming after 34 years, the NEP announced in July 2020 aims to address the many growing developmental imperatives of our country. The new policy proposes the revision and revamping of all aspects of the education structure, including its regulation and governance, to create a new system that is aligned with the aspirations of 21st century education, ensuring today's youth equip themselves with the skills that make them employable in a rapidly transitioning economy.

Yes, the link between education and employability is critical, more so in a developing country such as ours. Every year, thousands of Indian students graduate from universities across the country but struggle to find employment matching their skills. Same is the case with even engineering graduates, as a vast section of them are deemed unemployable by the industry because they lack the requisite skills and require additional training to become productive. Time and again, captains of Indian industry have pointed to an industry-academia gap as the curricula students are taught in colleges and universities are out of sync with the needs of the industry.

It is in this context that the NEP 2020 can be a game-changer as it aims to usher in far-sweeping changes in the Indian education system that can help India's next generation become not only job-worthy but also job creators, thus realizing the true value of the country's demographic dividend

The NEP 2020 is meant to provide an overarching vision and comprehensive framework for both school and higher education across the country. Since education is a concurrent subject, State/UT governments will play a critical role in the implementation of NEP 2020. If implemented effectively, the NEP can help reshape the future of the Indian workforce and help the next generation of job seekers to become more employable.

SALIENT FEATURES OF NEP 2020

- Universalization of education from pre-school to secondary level with 100% GER (gross enrolment ratio) in school education by 2030.
- New 5+3+3+4 School Curriculum with 3 years of Aanganwadi/pre-Schooling and 12 years of Schooling.
- Emphasis on foundational literacy and numeracy, no hard separation between academic streams, extracurricular, vocational streams in school, exposure to vocational

SPECIAL EDUCATION A HIGH IMPACT CAREER

Nidhi Prasad

India has achieved a milestone by passing a special education law, namely, Persons with Disabilities Act of 1995 (Equal Opportunities, Protection of Rights and Full Participation) which seeks to provide schooling and facilities to all children. Indian families usually face many challenges in caring for and educating their children with different special needs. Therefore, a number of special needs schools are making a positive difference. They are providing appreciable educational services and support for special needs children and their parents.

However, it is also a fact that these schools are not always accessible or affordable for all families. Well, the educational environment in India is focusing on the families for special education and special schools and is working to implement an inclusive special education system for achieving the goal of universal education. The Indian government is trying to implement special education services in all government schools. As per the evaluation techniques for children with special needs (CWSN) chalked out by the Sarva Shiksha Abhiyan (SSA), the special educators are supposed to make special kids not only physically comfortable in class but also change their teaching methods for their sake. It has been seen that there are a number of tailor-made teaching aids in class meant just for special kids. A person or a student with any kind of disability can easily conquer the world by their hard-work and skills. For this, they should be given special opportunities without any terms and conditions.

WHAT IS SPECIAL EDUCATION?

Special education is also called special needs education. Special education can be defined as personalized schooling given to children with diverse disabilities, whether they are physical, mental or developmental.

It refers to domain in which a range of services is provided in different ways and in different settings. There's no "one size fits all" approach to special education. It's tailored to meet the needs of students with disabilities. It focuses on helping kids with disabilities learning.

Special education programs are designed for those students

PEER ALI MARDANA

Five years before the formal commencement of mutiny in 1857, a strong organisation of committed crusaders of freedom was formed in Patna to wage war against the British empire. Many famous Muslim religious teachers called 'Maulvis' were leading this group of rebels. They were publicising and propagating acrimony against foreign rule. The access of this group ranged to people from the police force to booksellers. Rich businessmen, employees and soldiers of the Danapur Cantonment, used to attend the secret meetings of the group to pledge their lives to be sacrificed for their nation. One of the leading members of this group was the brave man, Peer Ali.

He hailed from Lucknow, but he had been in Patna for a long time into the business of book selling. He used to read the books which he brought for sale. Many of these were history books. The study of the books had inspired him to do something for the freedom of his country. He was tired of dependency and subjugation.

Inspired with freedom, Peer Ali set up his contacts with mutineers in Lucknow and Delhi through correspondence. With the flame of patriotism burning in him, he had awakened the desire to do something in others hearts also. The bookseller Peer Ali was highly regarded by the rebel group of Patna. He collected funds from the well-off members of his secret organisation and had not only got many members of the group armed but had also infused commitment for revolution against the British at an appropriate time. Ever since Taylor, the British Commissioner of Patna, had begun his atrocities and repression on the people of the town, Peer Ali's blood was boiling.

On being informed of the revolutionary blasts at Meerut on 10 May, 1857, Taylor sent two hundred of his trusted soldiers under the leadership of Retre who had come from Punjab. On their reaching Patna, Taylor had decided to wipe off the mutineers' organisation. A police 'Jamaadaar' Waris Ali of Tirhut, who was suspected of anti-British activities, was arrested and then later hanged by the British officers.

Similar arrests of members of the revolutionary group were being made at Gaya and Bihar. Taylor found out the names of many important revolutionaries. He planned to capture them all together. He had strong proof about three Maulvis who were members of the revolutionary group. He had a wicked plan in mind to arrest them.

To discuss the affairs of the state he invited many important people including the three Maulvis. He welcomed them with due respect to his home where the confident soldiers from Punjab were already deployed. When the meeting ended and people started leaving for their homes, he stopped the three Maulvis and said, "It would be dangerous for the State to let you remain free so you are arrested."

The whole affair was so planned that it was over before any reaction or unrest could take place in Patna. With this aim, the British officer passed two orders. Firstly, arms may be taken away from the residents and second was that no one be allowed to step out of their houses after 9 p.m. The second ruling proved to be a hindrance in the functioning of the mutineer's group as they could no further hold their meetings. To accumulate arms also became difficult for them.

These orders passed by Taylor further aggravated the anger among men like Peer Ali. He was waiting for instruction from Danapur. But when he realized that the British had endeavoured to uproot the sapling of revolution, he discussed it within his group and decided that armed rebellion would be good.

The meeting took place at Peer Ali's place on 3 July, 1857 and the complete program of the revolt was chalked out.

Thus, these brave men came out on the streets of Patna, blowing the conch of freedom and holding the rudder of holy crusade for freedom in their hands. Almost two hundred revolutionaries took different roads to reach the nearby church. When a British named Layal, along with a handful of soldiers tried to stop them, Peer Ali aimed his gun at him and shot him dead. Then, under the leadership of Retre came the British army's loyal soldiers of Punjab.

The revolutionaries who were less in number could not hold the fort for long in front of better equipped and disciplined force. The British arrested many of the revolutionaries. Peer Ali, who had shot Layal, was also there.

Peer Ali though stern and courageous in disposition was valiant too. He could not bear the torture that his fellowmen had to go through. He had said earlier about himself; he had taken the action even before the people were aware of it. After his arrest Peer Ali was handcuffed and rough, hard iron rings were put on his legs which were so brutally pressed to his skin till they would pierce his skin and his hands would bleed. Finally, the British decided upon giving him the death sentence.

When he was taken to the post where he was to be hanged, there was a heroic smile on his face. But when he called his beloved son, his throat got choked. The British officer wanting to utilize this moment of passion said, "Peer Ali you still have time. Give us the names of your other fellowmen and we will spare you." Brave heart Peer Ali retorted back, "Times come in the life of a man when it is important to save his life but there are more important times when sacrificing life is more important than living it. Now I only have the second one to choose. Today embracing death would pave the way to become immortal."

This lion-hearted man, then referring to all the different tortures that the British soldiers had given him, roared, "You can kill me and hang many other men like me. But anything you do, you will never be able to curb our prayer for freedom. Every drop of my blood will give birth to thousand more brave soldiers and they all will oust you and only then will they attain peace."

Forecasting this, the patriot kissed death in its face without letting his motherland down. This great man, following the trodden path of sacrifice, became a martyr.

Commissioner Taylor had himself said, "Peer Ali was a man of extreme courage and will power. Although he was not good looking and his face appeared cruel and brutal, yet he was a calm and sober man. He was polite in his speech and behaviour. Men like him who have invincible loyalty prove to be great enemies. But because of their tremendous self-respect they command admiration to some extent."

"Every drop of my blood will create thousands of brave men." This prediction of that immortal martyr could not be proved false. It was not proved wrong. As soon as the news of the death of this brave man reached the Danapur Cantonment, the very soldiers, who were considered loyal, sounded the victory call for revolution on 25 July, 1857. Without caring for the British artillery, three Indian platoons marched from there. They tore away and threw the uniforms of the British army into the river. Major Lyod owing to his old age could neither follow the mutineers nor could his army of Indian soldiers chase these worshippers of Independence.

The martyrdom of Peer Ali had rejuvenated in them a whole new sea of passion. They moved ahead and made the palace of Jagdishpur, their appointed destination, whose ruler was old Narkesari Kunwar Singh, but had enough strength and his sword still had its edges sharp.

Under his flag these brave men of the revolt gathered and joined hands with the army of Danapur to make Peer Ali's wish come true. Their hearts were burning with the fire of revenge and they also had tears in their eyes remembering the sacrifice that Peer Ali had made.

NATIONAL EDUCATION POLICY-2020

- education to start from Class 6 with internships.
- Assessment reforms with 360-degree holistic progress card and tracking student progress for achieving learning outcomes. A National Assessment Centre -- PARAKH (Performance Assessment, Review, and Analysis of Knowledge for Holistic Development)-- to be set-up as a standard-setting body for transforming assessment.
  - Setting-up of State School Standards Authority (SSSA) to establish a minimal set of standards based on basic parameters (namely, safety, security, basic infrastructure, number of teachers across subjects and grades, financial probity, and sound processes of governance), which shall be followed by all schools.
  - Teacher education to move into a multi-disciplinary environment and four year B.ED integrated to become a minimum degree qualification for school teachers by 2030.
  - Achieving 100% youth and adult literacy.
  - The policy promotes multilingualism in both schools and higher education. Wherever possible, the medium of instruction until at least Grade 5, but preferably till Grade 8 and beyond, will be the home language/mother tongue/ local language/regional language; National Institute for Pali, Persian and Prakrit, Indian Institute of Translation and Interpretation to be set up.
  - GER in higher education to be raised to 50% by 2035.
  - Higher education curriculum to have flexibility of subjects.
  - Multiple Entry / Exit, and transfer of credit through an Academic Bank of Credits.
  - National Research Foundation to be established to foster a strong research culture.
  - Light but tight regulation of higher education, single regulator with four separate verticals for different functions- the Higher Education Commission of India (HECI).
  - A stage-wise mechanism for granting graded autonomy to colleges, through a transparent system of graded accreditation, will be established.
  - Increased use of technology with equity; National Educational Technology Forum to be created.
  - Setting up of Gender Inclusion Fund, Special Education Zones for disadvantaged regions and groups.

BRIDGING EDUCATION-EMPLOYMENT GAP*Academic Bank of Credits

Among the many elements of the NEP, a few have a direct impact on employability. One of the biggest shifts is that the NEP empowers the future workforce with more flexibility to choose their subjects/courses. Entry / exit, and transfer of credit through an Academic Bank of Credits will allow students to earn and retain credits which will enable them to continue their education from where they had left, in case they drop out midway. A college student who quits a degree course after one year gets a certificate. She can earn a diploma after two years of study and a degree after three/four years. This flexibility and autonomy will enable students to explore a variety of options and acquire skills that the market demands rather than acquiring degrees that lead them nowhere. The path-breaking thought behind this policy is to have no insurmountable walls among curricular, extracurricular or co-curricular subjects, or among arts, commerce or science streams, or between vocational or academic courses. What this means is that a student can enrol for a programme in one institution and simultaneously sign up for courses of her choice in multiple institutions for earning credits in the physical and/or online mode. Further to close the gap in achievement of learning outcomes, classroom transactions will shift towards competency-based learning and education. Thus, there will be a shift from summative assessment to regular and formative assessment, which is more competency-based that promotes learning and development, and tests higher-order skills, such as analysis, logical thinking and clarity - skills that stand the test of time and are much in demand in the fast-changing workplace.

Vocational education

Taking employment-oriented education a step further, the NEP 2020 lays stress on vocational training and integrating it with the mainstream education system, unlike the current system where vocational education is a poorer cousin of academic courses, seen as a last resort for students who are unable to cope with the rigours of mainstream education. It is envisaged in the policy that vocational education will be integrated in the educational offerings of all secondary schools in a phased manner over the next decade. Towards this, secondary schools will also collaborate with ITIs, polytechnics, local industry, etc., to formulate vocational courses. All students will participate in a 10-day bagless period sometime during Classes 6-8 where they intern with local vocational experts. Students in Classes 9-12 will get similar internship opportunities to learn vocational subjects. This is extremely crucial for school dropouts who look for jobs in the unorganized sector, or opt for self-employment. The introduction of optional subjects such as financial literacy, coding data science and artificial intelligence at the secondary and higher secondary level are indications of the will to bring in subjects that have a direct impact on the employability front, preparing students for the tectonic shifts in the job market.

As part of a holistic education, students at all higher education institutes will be given internship opportunities with local factories, businesses, artists, crafts-persons, etc., as well as research internships with faculty and researchers at their own or other higher education institutes/research institutions, so that they can actively engage with the practical side of their learning and get hands-on learning, thereby improving who are mentally, physically, socially and/or emotionally delayed. This aspect of "delay," broadly categorized as a developmental delay, signifies an aspect of the child's overall development (physical, cognitive, scholastic skills). Special education programs and services adapt content, teaching methodology and delivery instruction to meet the appropriate needs of each child.

IMPORTANCE OF EDUCATION FOR SPECIAL CHILDREN

With the advent of modernization, the trend and the technology have changed, but the way of thinking of people still remains the same. Society often neglects the children and the people that have some kind of learning disabilities.

The special classes organized for these disabled or differently gifted children have become a necessity. It allows the students to enjoy the education and gain confidence due to individual learning. For the personal growth and development of the special children, it is important for all of them to receive proper education. The disability cases could include emotional, mental, physical or developmental. There are multiple numbers of impairments that a student could go through, like, Autism Spectrum Disorder, Multiple Disabilities, Developmental Delay, Traumatic Brain Injury, Orthopaedic Impairment, Speech and Language Impairment, Visual and hearing Impairment (including blindness) and many more.

Therefore, it is necessary for the specially disabled children to maintain the pace in the learning process with the children that do not have any special need, as they have the right to fulfill the requirements and explore their own potential regardless of any disability.

of India.

Some Institutes in India for pursuing B.Ed. in Special Education: Guru Gobind Singh Indraprastha University (Delhi), Indian Institute of Health Education and Research (Bihar), Jamia Millia Islamia (New Delhi), Kurukshetra University (Kurukshetra), Banaras Hindu University (Uttar Pradesh) etc.

WHAT DOES SPECIAL EDUCATOR DO?

If a child can't learn the way we teach, maybe we should teach the way they learn - Ignacio Estrada

A special education teacher is a professional responsible for teaching students with special needs. He or she provides learning support to students determining their capabilities and capacities.

In Special Schools, you work as a Special Educator. As a Special Educator, you have to deal with children with physical, emotional, and mental challenges and learning disabilities. You will work closely with their families to achieve the best educational outcome for them, teach them basic life and social skills for their personality development, and make them understand academic concepts through personalized one-to-one sessions.

A special education teacher assesses the progress of students. He or she collaborates with school psychologists, learning disabilities specialists, classroom teachers and parents. A special education teacher keeps updating students' parents on their progress.

Special Educator Work Involves:

- Teaching students and facilitating academic and non-academic activities
- Observing students' special requirements and making study plans blindness and other disorders to teach students with their best abilities.

Emotional or Behavioural Disorder Special Educator: A special educator with a specialisation in emotional or behavioural disorder provides support in learning to students suffering from a diverse range of characteristics. It may include anxiety disorders, depression, hyperactivity disorder, attention deficit or numerous other behavioural disorders.

Autism Spectrum Disorder Special Educator: A special educator with a specialisation in autism spectrum provides learning support to students identified on the autism spectrum. It may cause communication delays, inability to correlate circumstances and other things.

Special Educator in College: A special educator possessing an M.Ed. in special education provides learning support to students with special needs studying in colleges or high schools.

Vocational Rehabilitation Counselor: This job entails assisting older students in overcoming various disabilities to seek jobs.

SKILLS REQUIRED

Special education teacher requires a love for kids, empathy for parents dealing with difficult kids and a good sense of humour. Main attribute required for this career is patience and dedication. Having the innate desire to help others is also important in this profession. Like any other teachers, special education teachers must be organized and able to motivate students. A special educator should be enthusiastic and energetic with a positive mindset.

Special education teacher must possess following skills besides a bachelor's degree in special education.

Critical thinking: A special education teacher is a professional responsible for evaluating students' progress. He or she determines various methods to improve the learning experience of students with special needs.

Patience: A special education educator must possess patience as a characteristic. Students with special needs may take more time in learning and understanding a concept as compared to students without special needs. A special education teacher requires understanding that students are not always immediately responsive.

Communication Skills: A special education teacher must possess excellent communication skills. He or she should be able to communicate clearly with parents, teachers, administrators and children.

Problem Solving Ability: A special education teacher must be able to identify the problems. He or she should be able to determine the strength and weakness of alternative solutions. Special educator should focus on highlighting the learning strengths of every single child

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

The number of students requiring special education services has grown steadily in recent years as these disabilities are diagnosed at earlier ages and more and more specialised schools are coming up. This has increased the demand for specially trained teachers.

Special educators can get jobs in schools that work only with children with diverse disabilities. They can also get employment in inclusive schools that enrol children with special needs in their classrooms.

Special educators who mastered in several techniques of special education can get associated with consultants attached with schools or start their own therapy centres after acquiring necessary certifications.

Special educators use braille to pupils with visual impairments or sign language and lip reading to students who have hearing impairments. With development in technology, they are using various audio-visual materials and computers to stimulate interest in learning. Jobs for special educators are available in both government and private sector either with a group of students or on the individual basis. They can also find employment in rehabilitation centres.

INTERNSHIPS

Internships play a crucial role in the initial level of career development. It brings industry insights and learning opportunities. A special education teaching intern is required to develop, implement and evaluate the curriculum designed for special students. He or she is responsible for providing the necessary information to the classroom teacher. A special education teaching intern is required to collaborate with the class teacher in adapting curriculum and making necessary modifications. He or she ensures the implementation of modifications in the syllabus and assesses overall progress of the child.

Mentioned below certifications that individuals may opt for who want to establish a career as a Special Education Teacher.

- Teacher Development: Embedding Mental Health in the Curriculum
- Teaching for Success: Lessons and Teaching
- Using Technology in Evidence-Based Teaching and Learning
- Developing Expert Educators for Healthcare Professions
- Education Research that Matters: Applying Research to Your Teaching Practice

Top Recruiters

Special educators can find employment in:-

- Schools for Disabled Children
- Special Educator Teacher in B.Ed Colleges
- Rehabilitation Centers
- Hospitals that treat Children with Special Needs
- Consultancies that provide Special Education Trainers to Schools

After the Ministry of Human Resource Development issued directions about the proper professional special education training, the SSA can hire the inclusive education resource teachers (IERTs). But due to the rising number of the early interventions of the special needs among children nowadays, other teachers have to undergo training in special education which is only an introductory session on the needs of children with special needs. This issue is highlighting the insufficient number of trained special education teachers.

No career is cut and dry for those working in the field of special education. Just be sure to take the time to assess your interests, leverage your skills and knowledge, and then put them into practice to improve your career prospects in special education.

A career in special education promises a profession that is both challenging and rewarding. Rewarding in the sense that you will be making a difference in someone's life, assisting them in coping in the real world, making the children as well as their families happy and challenging because as a special education teacher, you will be playing a special role in teaching children the intellectual and emotional skills they need to cope with everyday life.

DR S RADHAKRISHNAN

THE GREAT EDUCATIONIST

Next to freedom and philosophy, Radhakrishnan believed in education. He was a great educationist. A Professor of philosophy in four Universities, Madras, Andhra, Banaras and at Oxford. He was Chairman of the University Commission and pleaded for Integral education. He believed that what distinguished a man from an animal was his capacity to be educated. Education transforms a man from his animal existence into human excellence. Its aim is to illumine the human mind, overcome the ape in him, to develop a warm heart and above all a lively imagination. Radhakrishnan used to ask God in his prayers, to grant him understanding and tolerance. He believed not in materialistic but naturalistic ways of education. He wanted education to revive our sensitivity. He believed that education in the mere sciences and technology would help a man only to become a better technician. A motor driver will become a better motor driver and not a better man. He pleaded for man-making education and wanted courage to come into the hearts of men.

He did not regard man as a mere body made up of a few pounds of carbon, a little sulphur, phosphorus, some lime and mixed salt. Nor is man different from his less exalted brothers, animals in the way of instincts and surge of emotions. Men fight for survival and their fight discloses their mean motive and narrow ideas. Education should aim at refinement.

Man was regarded by Radhakrishnan as a spiritual entity with a physical body. Service and technology have given him gadgets and his science has made him conquer nature and plunder the planet. It has enabled him to fly in the air and swim under the seas. All these do not constitute the essence of man. Education has failed to enable a man to be in peace with himself. The distracted nature of the mind, his mental ailments, tension and other maladies are due to miseducation. Real and valid education caters to the needs of body, mind and personality. The Professor, in his tens of convocation addresses in the Universities, outlined the role of education by introducing religion and philosophy as the most effective connection to the limitation of scientific and technological knowledge.

He was the Chairman of the University Commission and in that capacity, he visited all then 25 Universities in India and interviewed 2900 scholars and draw up the University Commission report. The report is a good document of immense significance. It outlined the educational policies, not only of universities but also of schools. The aim of education was to produce a world citizen. It aimed at the development of the body, mind and spirit of every individual. Education aimed at social justice and cultivation of the art of cordial human relationship.

TEACHERS' DAY 5TH SEPTEMBER

The Commission recommended a sound religious education which was not dogmatic or sectarian. It aimed at giving a spiritual training, enabling the student to work out by free enquiry, his or her own approach to religion. The details are interesting.

1. Start the work every day with a few moments of silent meditation.
2. Teach the students the life of great religious leaders.
3. Provide them with selections from the world scriptures.

The Commission recommended that education must not be a State subject but must be included in the concurrent list of Central Government. In answer to the difficult problem of the medium of instruction, the Commission pleaded for the replacement of English as early as possible by an Indian language. But English should be taught even at school level. There should be no haste in introducing changes, in the medium of instruction. English should continue as the medium of education until such time the regional languages develop to take its place. The vexed problem of giving opportunity to merit and students of merit engaged the attention of the Commission. The Commission under the Professor's guidance, who was its Chairman declared clearly that the distribution of educational opportunity should be on the basis of merit. There was the difficulty of implementing this idea in an egalitarian society. To accommodate this, it was recommended that one-third of the total seats be reserved for a period of ten years.

The sound idealism of the report and its pleasing proposals were admired by all scholars. Sir Richards Livingston, the Vice-Chancellor of Oxford commended the report to Christian countries also. The salaries of University teachers were raised. The report was not fully put into action and was buried, with respectful inattention. The fact that Radhakrishnan was one of the greatest educationists can never be challenged.

(Excerpts from the book Dr. S Radhakrishnan authored by Dr. P Nagaraja Rao, published by Publications Division)

e-Shram Portal

National Database of Unorganised Workers

The government has launched e-Shram portal - National Database on Unorganized Workers. Inaugurating the portal, Labour and Employment Minister Bhupendra Yadav announced the portal will maintain a database of workers in the country's unorganised sector and facilitate better implementation of various Social Security Schemes for their welfare. All trade union leaders have welcomed the move and extended their full support for the successful launch and implementation of the e-Shram portal.

Key features of the initiative

- More than 38 Crore workers would register themselves under one portal
- Registration is totally free and workers do not have to pay anything
- An e-Shram card will be allotted to each registered unorganized worker
- With e-Shram card with unique Universal Account Number (UAN), registered workers will be able to access benefits of the various social security schemes anywhere, anytime.
- If a registered worker meets with an accident, he will be eligible for Rs 2.0 Lakh on death or permanent disability and Rs 1.0 lakh on partial disability
- This database will help government formulate future schemes and policies for unorganized sector workers
- It will help track migrant labour workforce and provide them employment opportunities

e-Shram Registration process

- Registration starts on 26 August 21 in Hindi, English. Registration in 8 regional languages to begin soon.
- Self enrolment through portal on www.eshram.gov.in
- Assisted enrolment through CSK/SSK in over 4 lakh centres across the country
- Assisted enrolment through post offices
- For registering through CSK/SSK one has to provide AADHAR number and bank account details
- For self enrolment through portal one has to provide AADHAR number, bank account details and mobile number linked to AADHAR.

NATIONAL EDUCATION POLICY-2020

their chances of finding suitable employment at the end of their tenure. Focus areas for vocational education will be chosen based on skills gap analysis and mapping of local opportunities. The ministry of human resource development will constitute a National Committee for the Integration of Vocational Education (NCIVE), consisting of experts in vocational education, representatives from across different ministries, and industries, to oversee this effort.

The practical and reformist approach undertaken by the NEP 2020, with regard to the employability and vocational training of undergraduates from all streams, is a giant leap towards making education and employment more aligned with each other. The policy proposes internships in private and public sectors for students enrolled in undergraduate courses, to equip graduates with industry experience. The NEP lays emphasis on experiential learning, thus helping foster 21st century skills like problem solving, lateral thinking and critical analysis along with behavioural competencies - skills essential for shopfloors and boardrooms alike.

Coming to medium of instruction, a key aspect of NEP 2020 is the promotion of all Indian languages. It has recommended that schools and higher education institutes give students the option to study in their mother tongues, thus ensuring that those studying in non-English institutes do not get sidelined. Schools in some states have already made a start with textbooks in respective languages on the way. Technical education is being offered in eight regional languages in certain institutions on a pilot basis from 2021-22. The languages include Hindi, Bengali, Tamil, Telugu, Marathi, Gujarati, Kannada and Malayalam.

A sad commentary on the current education system has been on the undue stress on marks achieved in examinations instead of focusing on the skills and knowledge gained during the course. Thus, the NEP 2020 aims to reduce undue focus on the Class 10 and Class 12 board exams. Consequently, board exams administered by the Central Board of Secondary Education will have a higher number of multiple-choice and analytical questions from 2021-2022 academic year. If this trend is followed by the various state boards, we could see a course correction in the school education system.

As per government data, the unemployment rate of educated persons in India was at 11.4%. Given that half of India's population is under 25 and around 66% are younger than 35, this small percentage actually works out to a very large number. The United Nations suggests that by 2027, India will represent almost one-fifth of the global workforce, which will by far, be the largest in the

Gati Shakti - Road to Better Productivity & Employment

On India's 75th Independence Day, Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi announced that the Centre will launch Rs. 100 lakh-crore project for developing holistic infrastructure called 'PM Gati Shakti Master Plan.'

Describing the upcoming 25 years when India completes 100 years of Independence as 'Amrit Kaal' the PM expressed hope that India will achieve all its growth imperatives in this period. The Prime Minister said that India needs to increase both manufacturing and exports. Every product that is sold globally from India is attached to India, which is why every "Made in India" product is a brand ambassador for the country. "India imported mobile phones worth USD 8 billion seven years ago and is now exporting USD 3 billion worth of mobile phones," the Prime Minister said stressing the need for concerted efforts in manufacturing world-class products utilizing cutting-edge innovation and new-age technology.

How will Gati Shakti Generate Employment?

For the past few years, India has been working for a reset of its logistics sector involving railways, highways, inland waterways, and airports to put in place an effective transportation grid which will go a long way in increasing industrial productivity. This will provide an impetus to local manufacturers and help them augment their global profile, enabling them to compete with their counterparts worldwide. It will also raise possibilities of new future economic zones and generate large number of employment opportunities.

PM Modi said that multiple parts of the country - whether its east, northeast, Jammu and Kashmir, Ladakh including the entire Himalayan region, the coastal belt or the tribal region - will become a big base for India's development in the future. The launch date of the Gati Shakti Master Plan is yet to be officially announced by the government.

■ Monetization plan for alternative funding in infrastructure

The government has launched National Monetization Pipeline Initiative aimed at monetising infrastructure projects like roads, transport and highways, railways, power, pipeline and natural gas, and civil aviation. The policy has been designed to attract more investors to the country and encourage alternative financing for infrastructure assets. It is estimated that the initiative has a monetisation potential of 6 lakh crore rupees which will be realized during the next four-years until 2025. The strategic objective of the initiative is to unlock the value of investments in brownfield public sector assets by tapping institutional and long-term capital. It will attract private sector investment for new infrastructure creation. Terming this initiative beneficial for creating employment opportunities, Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman said, it will enable high economic growth.

■ CCEA clears Rs 15 thousand crore FDI for infrastructure

The Cabinet Committee of Economic Affairs (CCEA) has approved the Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) proposal for an investment of upto 15 thousand crore rupees by Anchorage Infrastructure Investments Holdings Limited. The investment will be a major boost to the infrastructure, construction and the airport sector. It will also be a significant boost to the recently announced National Monetisation Pipeline, as it will help fund leasing out of state-owned infrastructure assets which involves handling assets like roads, railways, airports, sports stadiums, power transmission lines and gas pipelines to private operators. The investment will considerably substantiate the government's plan to develop world class airports and transport related infrastructure through private partnerships. The move will also generate indirect employment during construction and ancillary activities.

■ India says Afghan situation a regional security concern : India

India has said stability in Afghanistan is linked to the peace and security of the region. In his statement at the 31st Special Session of the Human Rights Council on the serious human rights concerns and situation in Afghanistan, Permanent Representative of India to the UN, Indramani Pandey said, the current situation prevailing in the country is of great concern to India. He hoped that the situation in Afghanistan does not pose a challenge to its neighbours and its territory is not used by terrorist groups such as Lashkar-e-Taiba and Jaish-e-Mohammed, to threaten any other country. Mr Pandey said India is closely monitoring the rapidly evolving security situation in Afghanistan and continues to call upon parties concerned to maintain law and order, ensure the safety and security of all Afghan nationals, UN personnel and diplomatic staff members.

■ EAM assures all Indians will be evacuated from Afghanistan

As India continues to evacuate its citizens from conflict-stricken Afghanistan under Operation Devi Shakti, External Affairs Minister Dr. S. Jaishankar has assured that all remaining Indians will be evacuated at the earliest. Briefing the media after an all party meeting, the minister said the government and the opposition parties all have a very similar view on Afghanistan and therefore there is national concern now at the developments. The Minister added that India's strong friendship with the people of Afghanistan is reflected in the more than 500 projects India is undertaking there but that India's immediate concern is evacuating Indian personnel.

■ World Bank, IMF halts Afghanistan project fundings

World Bank has halted all financial assistance for projects to Afghanistan. The move comes in the wake of the Taliban assuming power in the country. The World Bank spokesperson said World Bank will continue to consult closely with the international community and development partners in this direction. The International Monetary Fund (IMF) has also said Afghanistan will no longer be able to access the lender's resources. An IMF spokesperson said it was due to lack of clarity within the international community over recognising a government in Afghanistan. Resources of over 370 million $ from the IMF had been set to arrive on 23 August. These funds were part of a global IMF response to the economic crisis.
